MAY BE CLEVELAND AND GRAY

Mr. Whitney Brings the Dissenting Elements Under His Rod of Rule.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The two strong factors in the Democratic party—the south and Tammany hall—will now play leading parts as they want to do and as undoubtedly they could, were they in accord.

With the south Democratic success is above the individual and the debate as to who could achieve success was won by the supporters of Cleveland.

The moment the south believed that Cleveland could carry New York, the opposition in the south, headed by Watterson, melted away and the popular demand for the nomination of Cleveland grew irresistable.

The fact is manifest that broken Republican lines in a state or two infused courage into the Democrats.

The doubtful Democratic states of the west uniting on Cleveland constrained the opposition in the south to yield.

On the silver question the south and west are in accord and therefore inclined to support each other on all other matters, but neither can the south or west furnish a candidate for the presidency in 1892.

Indeed, efforts with brass bands and public parades to make candidates of Hill, Palmer, Morrison or Boies, were no more successful than the whisperings for Gorman and Carlisle.

Never was a national Democratic convention more thoroughly dominated by popular opinion against the judgment of many of the most generous minded and acknowledged leaders.

The selection of ex-Governor Gray of Indiana as the candidate for the vice presidency seemed probable last night and this morning, but later in the day it transpired that Gray might have opposition in Indiana.

It is said the Cleveland people of Indiana favor the selection of Congressman Bynum of Indianapolis, if an Indiana man is to be nominated for vice president, and the Georgia delegation is also understood to favor him.

Stevenson and Morrison of Illinois, Boies of Iowa, and Campbell of Ohio were also freely discussed, but despite speculation Gray appears to be the favorite candidate for the vice presidency.

THE CONVENTION.

The Preliminary Very Short and Sweet.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Chairman Brice called the convention to order at 12.45. The circus tent appearance of the big Democratic wigwam was greatly magnified by a dozen huge white pendants stretched from the covering to the floor. What appeared to be pendants really were about poets supporting the mammoth circular canopy of wood raised some distance above the walls to admit light and air from all sides. Blue silken banners, distributed on the main floor, bearing the names of the various states, showed where state delegations should be seated. Around the back of them like an amphitheatre wore the seats containing the spectators, the entire structure having a seating capacity for more than 20,000 people.

The chairman's desk, over which were the names of Cleveland and Hendricks, nominated in 1884, was surmounted by huge bouquets of flowers. The great interior, wreathed with red, white and blue streamers, flags and banners, was here and there decorated with the shields of the different states and portraits of honored Democrats of the past. The delegations were seated according to alphabetical order, Alabama having the front row and New York well back.

The crowd began to gather as early as 11 o'clock, though the convention was not to be called to order till noon, and it was long after that hour before the actual calling to order took place. When the panel finally fell the great structure was completely filled with people.

W. C. Owens of Kentucky was announced as temporary chairman.

On taking the chair he made a speech, in which he stated that two great dangers menaced the Democratic party—one external, the other internal. The first was the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the Federal government. The second was the tendency among Democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs, therefore, he said, stood before the convention which were indispensible to success; these were unity and harmony. The speaker proceeded to characterize the coming campaign as one of education, and closed by saying: "Impelled by one purpose, public good, we will free ourselves from the bickerings and heartburns that characterized the Republican party when its Marshal Ney went down at Minneapolis before the mailed legions of the bread and butter brigade."

At the close of Owens' speech, on motion of Stephen M. White of California the roll was called for constituting the committees on credentials, rules, order of business, permanent organization and resolutions.

All resolutions and communications were ordered referred to the committee on resolutions.

Delegate Holman of Oregon announced that he had just received a telegram from Portland, Or., to the effect that the city had given 1000 Democratic majority instead of 2000 Republican, as heretofore.

Cable of Illinois offered the following: "Resolved, that this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American James G. Blaine, in the heavy affliction which has befallen him."

The reading was interrupted by loud applause. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Sweet of Maine thanked the convention for the sympathy shown to the distinguished resident of that state.

At 2 p.m. the convention adjourned until 11 tomorrow.

HARMONY IN SIGHT.

Though the Managers Have Made a Bad Mess.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Indications are that the national convention of 1892 will not be inharmonious, as was generally predicted.

The proceedings today were unusually tame, but nothing occurred to call forth any particular party enthusiasm.

The speech of the temporary chairman was well received. His arraignment of the Republican doctrine of protection was in original and effective language.

The only dissension which occurred in the day's proceedings was over the attempt of several delegates to throw open the vacant galleries to crowds of eager Democrats who were standing outside in the rain.

No one seems able to explain the reason, but throughout the session there were 8000 unoccupied seats in the galleries of the convention hall, and there was a great popular inquiry as to who held the tickets for the seats. No one volunteered any information, but the national committee naturally came in for most of the blame, and it was generally asserted that members or some of their favorite friends pocketed the tickets to be used at the best time to the best advantage in filling the galleries with cheerers for some particular candidate.

Watterson for Cleveland.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Kentucky this morning decided to cast its twenty-six votes solidly for Cleveland, after an intensely exciting meeting, at which Henry Watterson made one of his famous speeches, in which he said that henceforth he was for Cleveland, and hoped Kentucky would be in line when the man of destiny was nominated. He declared that the last thirty-six hours, under the wonderful management of ex-Secretary Whitney, has brought about a remarkable change in the situation in New York, and he was now convinced that the only ground on which he had opposed Cleveland had been removed and that Cleveland would be able to carry the state of New York.

Will Not Give Up.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Much gossip is going the rounds concerning the intentions of Senator Hill. Among other things it has been said that his friends have been authorized to withdraw his name for the Democratic nomination. It can now be stated as a fact that Hill will not withdraw. He does not propose to withdraw but will fight to the end.

Boies Laid Aside.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Boies' followers are almost as bitter as the Hill men in protesting against Cleveland's nomination. The delegation decided this morning to cast a solid vote for Boies, even if every other delegate in the convention voted for Cleveland, and under no circumstances to allow the consideration of his name for the second place.

GREATER THAN GROVER

THE MENTION OF BLAINE'S NAME IN CONVENTION

Occasions a Storm of Applause Which Seemed to Astonish Every One.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The national Democratic convention was in session two hours today, and during that time the name of but one illustrious American was mentioned, that of James G. Blaine.

By a singular coincidence the Democratic idol, Grover Cleveland, who is destined to be the nominee of the convention was unmentioned throughout the session, while that of Blaine called forth the most enthusiastic demonstration of the day.

Before the purport of the resolution was known, and immediately upon the mention of Blaine, the secretary was interrupted by a tremendous ovation, which recalled the tribute accorded his name at Minneapolis.

Equally pleasant was the incident which followed, when Hon. E. C. Sweet of Maine arose and thanked the convention on behalf of his state for the resolutions adopted.

SAT DOWN UPON.

The Anti-Snap People Roughly Handled.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The anti-snap delegation having decided that they would present their case to the committee, selected General Bragg to act for them. He filed Syracuse credentials, and Belmont, representing the Hill men, said he hoped the committee would give a hearing to the delegation Bragg seemed to represent, as there seemed some doubt whether or not a contest was really to be made.

The committee on credentials took a recess until evening, and in the meanwhile the anti-snaps had another conference, and this evening there was a hot time before the credentials committee. Bitter words were exchanged before Mr. Coudert could get a hearing for the purpose of withdrawing, proforma, the contest of the anti-snaps.

The anti-snaps heard themselves called bolters, mugwumps and other hard names, had their Democracy impugned and their method of presenting their content called smuggling.

Feeling several times ran high, but Chairman Lamb managed to keep the committee in order.

The anti-snap delegates then withdrew their contest and terminated the incident in a resolutions submitted to the committee.

The resolutions set forth that it is the first wish of the delegation and those it represents, to promote the supremacy of Democratic principles and assure the election of the party's candidate, and having received from the representatives of more than thirty-five states and territories concurrent expression of opinion that the interests of Democracy could be promoted by the avoidance of a controversy concerning the New York representation, the delegation decided to press no further their claims for membership.

It was announced that the resolutions were adopted at the request of the signers of a letter representing thirty-five states who appealed for harmony.

When Goudert made his appearance and asked to withdraw the contest, Bourke Cockran raised the question as to the request being in order. He said: "We didn't recognize the right of any member of the Syracuse committee to move a contest. It must be made in convention." He asked that the motion be ruled out of order.

Foote of California wanted harmony and a hearing for Goudert.

Cockran's point of order was knocked out on a technical point and the motion to lay on the table was lost by a rising vote.

St Clair of West Virginia stirred up a lively racket in a warm denunciation of the Syracuse delegation, talking of mugwumps, bolters, etc.

General Bragg replied, warmly, and, as stated above, the fight went on hotly for some little time. Bragg, St. Clair, O'Brien of Minnesota, Donnelly of Colorado, and others taking part.

NO PLATFORM YET.

Some Idea of What Will Compose It.

CHICAGO, June 21. It was near midnight before the platform committee adjourned, and then their labors were far from complete.

The draft submitted by C. H. Jones of St. Louis, had twice been taken up and considered with amendments and substitutes innumerable. Finally the committee resigned the matter to a subcommittee of nine, consisting of Jones of Missouri, Vilas of Wisconsin, Daniel of Virginia, Thompson of California, Russell of Massachusetts, Patterson of Colorado, Bayard of Delaware, McPherson of New Jersey, Sewall of Maine.

The sub-committee was instructed to report the result to the full committee at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At the session of the committee this evening interest centered chiefly in what was to be done on silver.

Don Dickinson presented a plank which was understood to represent the most liberal idea that would be subscribed to by the supporters of Cleveland. It favored a bimetallic standard and opposed any discrimination in favor of either metal or placing any burden upon either. It omitted the mention of free coinage.

The silver men had three separate planks, varying in their radical nature of which they propose to get into the platform the strongest that the committee would stand.

The Nicaragua canal commission, consisting of L. Archer of California, chairman, George L. Converse of Ohio, S. H. Hawkins of Georgia, E. F. Cragin of Illinois and Henry D. Pierce of Indiana, appeared before the committee and argued for the adoption of the following plank:

"We recognize the Monroe doctrine as embracing the cardinal principles of the Democratic party, and insist upon its enforcement whenever circumstances may require, and to the end for both defense and commerce alike we demand that the Nicaragua canal be built with American money and absolutely controlled by the United States. The completion of the work will be the greatest achievement of the age, surpassing in importance the Suez canal. We favor such governmental aid, surrounded by every proper safe guard as will secure the above object and a speedy completion of the work."

A draft of the platform which Chairman Jones submitted this evening seemed in general to meet the approval of the committee.

Among other things it declares: We are in favor of the tariff and a reduction of import duties to a revenue basis with protection only to such industries as require it for the protection of American working men.

On the financial question it says: "We denounce the Sherman law of 1889 and demand its unconditional repeal. We favor the free coinage of both gold and silver on such a basis as will maintain the two metals on a parity with each other."

It says: "We reaffirm the old time Democratic doctrine of reciprocal trade relations with foreign powers and denounce the reciprocity pretensions of the Republican party."

The platform declares that the present administration in its foreign relations oppresses the weak and truckles to the powerful.

On the school question the platform says: "We commend the common school system, which had its birth under a Democratic administration," and declares in favor of the freedom of education, and for the right of the parent to control the teachings of the child which are necessary to the maintenance of civil and religious liberty.

There seems little doubt that the resolutions will be incorporated in the platform either literally or in substance. Its natural interpretation as a quasi denunciation of past Republican legislation in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin and is relied upon as an effective means of attracting the Lutheran and other sectarian votes in those states.

Pulling for Harmony.

CHICAGO, June 21.—An interesting situation is developing in the Tammany delegation tonight. A difference of opinion having arisen among the leaders as to the proper policy to pursue in view of the overwhelming Cleveland sentiment Croker is reported to be in favor of an understanding with the Cleveland leaders and endeavoring to persuade Murphy and Sheehan to prevail on Hill to harmonize differences.

Many leading Hill men outside of New York are wiring Senator Hill to the same effect tonight.

Harrity Wanted.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Indications tonight are that the Cleveland leaders will endeavor to have Harrity of Pennsylvania selected as chairman of the national committee during the approaching campaign.

Disastrous Explosion.

BREST, June 21.—Yesterday the new French cruiser Dupuy D'Coure was having a trial of her machinery, when the head of one of her boilers was blown out and an explosion occurred in one of her coal bunkers, totally disabling the vessel. Her hold was filled with scalding steam and smoke, while boiling water covered the floors of the deck to a depth of several inches. The unfortunate stokers and engineers were imprisoned in the hold and fifteen of them were taken, dying, to the hospital, and a number of others will undoubtedly die.

Anticipate a Flood.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 21.—Word has been received here that the Pottsville Water company's big reservoir, located on a mountain southeast of Tracksville, has started to leak. Hundreds of residents of New Castle, St. Clair, Port Carbon and Palo Alto have abandoned their homes and taken to the hills. Telegraph operators along the line near the dam are prepared to sound a warning instantly and give notice of the approaching danger.

Burial of Emmons Blaine.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Funeral services over the remains of the late Emmons Blaine took place at 2.30 this afternoon at the McCormick residence. A large number of friends of the McCormick and Blaine families were present. The services were exceedingly simple. The interment was at Graceland cemetery.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The first grand rally of the Republicans took place tonight at Carnegie music hall. Fully 5000 persons were present.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Republican club of the city of New York.

The speakers were Governor McKinley, J. C. Burrows of Michigan, John Dalzell of Pennsylvania.

Among the many prominent men present were Whitelaw Reid and Secretary Elkins.

CALIFORNIA CROPS.

Their Condition According to Director Barwick.

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—The following is a synopsis of the weekly crop report for the week ending June 20th, as issued by Director Barwick of the California weather service: Haying is about over, resulting in a large crop of excellent quality. Barley is being harvested and the crop is unusually large and good. Wheat harvesting has about started with the output variable. In a few fields of the state the yield will be somewhat below the average, while in the others it will be slightly above the average, thereby running up the entire crop throughout the great wheat belt of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. The warm wave during the latter part of the week was favorable to fruit. Hops and late sown grains, cherry, apricot, prune and pear crops are considerably below the average in quantity and quality. The observer at Los Angeles reports for southern California, and says: "Weather continues cooler than the average, which is retarding the rapid ripening of fruit. Apricots are in market and the bulk of the crop will soon be ready for the dryers."

OVER A BANK.

ADVENTURES OF A STAGE LOAD OF PASSENGERS.

The Vehicle is Precipitated Twenty-five Feet But No One is Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—This morning the stage coming to San Rafael from Bolinas, containing eleven passengers, ran over the edge of a precipice on the Fairfax grade, four miles from San Rafael, rolling down the embankment twenty-five feet. Fortunately no one was killed.

The stage, together with the horses, rolled completely over.

Only two passengers escaped severe bruises.

A little girl fell under a horse and when taken up was insensible.

A boy also was seriously hurt.

The driver had his face and neck horribly cut by a barbed wire.

Had not a tree stopped the fall of the stage it would have fallen fifty feet and probably many of the passengers would have been killed.

Whitelaw Reid Notified.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The committee appointed to notify Whitelaw Reid of his nomination for the vice presidency called on him at Ophir farm today. The address of notification was delivered by Senator Dubois of Idaho.

FROM VISALIA.

A New Packing House to be Built at Reedley.

Reedley is to have a packing house this season. The California Fruit, Wine and Land company is largely interested in the matter, and S. Sweet of San Francisco, senior member of the firm of Sweet & Co., of this city, will visit Reedley this week to work in the interest of the project.

James L. Tuohy has been appointed receiver of the Buena Vista Fruit and Vineyard company. The affairs of this company are in a badly muddled condition owing to mismanagement on the part of the superintendent of the ranch.

The Green Fisherman.

It is amusing to a veteran when visiting angling resorts to watch the beautiful way in which the guides seduce the greenhorns into buying tackle or outfits from them or from the local stores. There is always some particular fly or spoon without which it is useless to fish, and then when it comes to going out to the fishing grounds, woe to the man who has not been there before, for unless he happens to have an unusually conscientious boatman the chances are that he will be taken over some very convenient ground where there are few if any fish.

"They are not biting today," or "You ought to have been here last week," etc., are the consoling remarks made by the guides; we have all listened to these remarks time and time again. Anglers on their first trips to the Thousand Isles suffer from this to a very great extent; there are so many good looking and convenient localities barren of fish while the best and prolific waters are at considerable distance from the hotels and require hard work at the oars to reach them. In fact the experience of sportsmen is that the first season at a new resort, whether for fishing or shooting, is usually wasted.—Forest and Stream.

The promoters of the McKinley tariff mean it to push forward the policy of American for Americans. One method of realizing it was to keep all work within their own dominions. The country was to be made self-supplying; what could be produced at home was not to be bought abroad. That was the key-note of the McKinley scheme, and it is working out the idea of its designers with the precision and effectiveness of a machine.—Sheffield (England) Daily Telegraph.

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK.

The prospects for California raisin and fruit growers are growing decidedly brighter. The condition of the market last year was very discouraging, but the causes which led to that condition are now plainly evident and for the most part are easy of remedy. One of those causes was the unusually heavy fruit crop throughout the eastern states. This, of course, is liable to occur again, but not this season. In most of the states the crop has been badly damaged by cold weather and heavy storms. The principal cause, however, was the largely increased product in this state and the utter lack of intelligent management in handling it. No one seemed to have realized the fact that the time had come when there must be an end of first class prices for second class goods, and vast quantities of inferior as well as first quality fruit was dumped by train loads into two or three markets, which was followed by the natural result of a serious glut and break down in the market. It has taken several months of time to even partially rectify such wholesale blundering as this, and daylight is just now beginning to show through the ominous gloom of several months, and happily the clearing up has come at a time to permit of better results for this year's crop.

The American Grocer, one of the leading trade publications of the United States, says under date of June 8th:

The situation as it relates to raisins shows improvement. It is estimated that there are not over 1000 boxes of Malaga raisins in this market, and the stock of Denia was very largely reduced during last month. There is also an improvement in the demand for California raisins; 3-cr. loose can be had from $1.10 to $1.25 per box; London layer, $1@1.35, and bag raisins from 4 to 4½c, as to grade. The stock of California prunes is light, and of apricots and peaches, there are very few to be had.

We think the position taken by the J. K. Armsby company regarding the market is a correct one:

"Slowly but surely the enormous consumption of the past ten months is making itself felt upon the markets, and the dried fruit crop of 1891, the largest ever known in the world's history, is already exhausted, with the single exception of a small stock of canned fruits, and a still smaller stock of raisins. These last, at present time, are the best purchase that we have had during the season. The trade can rest assured that they will have no opportunity during the coming season to make purchases at the prices ruling today. The growers are organized for self protection. There will be some system in the shipping, and still more in the selling. Another year like this would drive half of the grape growers out of the business, and as the situation has been brought about by their own competition, they are realizing their mistake, and as far as it lays in their power, are striving to correct them. Every pound of raisins that are being offered on today's market are a purchase. Don't be afraid to buy. Other dried fruit are in such small supply as to be almost unquotable. The outlook on the coming crop is for about half as many dried apricots as that of 1891. About the same on prunes, and a full crop of peaches. There will be more fruit dried this year by the professional dryers, a steadier market, and a much better quality of fruit than most of that of last year. The crop will be large enough so that prices will be reasonable; but the consumption is steadily growing and at reasonable prices—it is yet larger than the product."

At a meeting of raisin growers to be held in this city today a step will probably be taken which will undoubtedly do more to prevent a repetition of last year's mistakes than any other of the several plans proposed. The general determination to strictly and honestly grade all goods according to quality is, of course, an essential factor to success. The next imperative measure is to prevent the whole crop from being thrown promiscuously on the market as it was last season. To prevent this disastrous policy the following petition has been prepared for general circulation among the raisin growers of this state:

We, the undersigned raisin growers of California, having become fully satisfied that the present demoralized condition of the raisin market is almost if not entirely due to the absence of any understanding concerning uniform selling prices among the parties who have the products of raisin vineyards in their hands for sale, and from the fact that numerous established agencies in the east are in the habit of competing and thereby undercutting each other without regard to prices, we believe the time is at hand when this system of disposing of our vineyard products will bring the growers of this state to poverty and financial ruin.

Now, therefore, in view of these facts above stated we, the undersigned raisin growers, do most earnestly request, as a matter of protection to ourselves and families, even demand that the packers who are producers of raisins, and packers who are not producers of raisins, and in fact all who have raisins in proper condition for the markets of the world, join together immediately and agree among themselves to establish a minimum price on each and every grade of raisins, and that they bind themselves not to sell any raisins during this present crop year for less than such minimum price agreed upon. And in consideration of such an agreement as above we, the undersigned raisin growers, hereby agree and mutually bind ourselves upon our honor not to give, sell or consign any raisins subject to our control during the term above mentioned to any parties or parties who do not enter into an agreement establishing such minimum prices.

The situation fully warrants the raisin growers of the state in entering into this agreement. If they do so and live up to the agreement the success of a great industry, now endangered by mismanagement, will become assured.

DEMOCRATS are complaining that California Republicans are not enthusiastic over the renomination of President Harrison. Now that we direct their attention to it they will doubtless recall the fact that when Harrison and Cleveland were candidates four years ago the Republicans did most of their shouting after the election. That was an eminently satisfactory program, and there is no occasion for changing it.

THE Republican state convention will meet at Sacramento on the 20th of July. The principal work of the convention will be the selection of candidates for presidential electors. Congressional nominations will also be made by the various district conventions. No opposition has developed in this district to the renomination of Congressman Bowers.

THE post of the Associated Press says that Mr. Cleveland "enjoys his happy home life more than the plaudits of shouting thousands." Lucky man, indeed, that his domestic pleasures will only be disturbed by a few short months of campaigning.

THE case of Harrison vs. Cleveland is coming up for a new trial on the ground that the court erred in its former judgment. Mr. Cleveland will find that this tribunal makes no mistakes.

THE Sacramento Bee testifies that Revivalist Mills came to that town a Christian and left it a gentleman. The devil will find the setting of snares for Mr. Mills a sheer waste of time.

THE Iroquois club is the Tammany of Fresno, and the county Democracy will find it no easy task to defeat the schemes of the wily chiefs of that secret organization.

THE court house family is becoming deeply impressed with the strength of the Republican county ticket. That impression will deepen as election day approaches.

THE New York Sun shines through the clouds of political adversity like the eye of the man whose sorrow refuses to stay drowned in the flowing bowl.

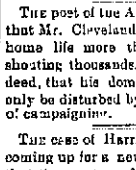

MR. SULLIVAN of Boston has declared his preference for Cleveland. He must admit, however, that his choice is sadly in need of training down.

"A word to the wise" as a hair-worked advertising catch line is a thrifty concession to universal profanity.

O, what will the old roosters do who perched on the railing of Fiske
And talked on political questions that puzzle the brains of the wise?
Must they change from one foot to the other and suffer the horrible risk
Of filling their shoes with soft corns as the stream of tobacco juice slics
From their lips to the pool on the pave as they wearily stand in their place?
Must they let a fair lady go by without stabbing her with an "aside,"
Or the leer of an eye that would raise a blush on a stone woman's face?
Ah! the dunghill is gone, and the roosters no longer can mount it with pride,
They must lurk in the shade of the barn or lean on a counter where beer
Is sold at a nickel a bootleg—three statesmen whom labor would kill,
And who prate of the rights of the worker in language whose grammar is queer,
While their wives o'er the washtub are sweating, the mouths of their babies to fill.

Malaria

Malaria and chills and fever are due to the fabrication of watery vapors and gases arising from decaying vegetation. The humid Spring and Autumn months and it the worst. It infests both city and country. The victim is continually tired, and worn out, has no energy, is subject to aches and pains in the back and limbs, and in perspiring one moment and cold the next. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is more effective in this troublesome all the potash Sarsaparillas put together, for the plain reason that it has stimulating properties and a perfect bowel regulating action not found in the others, and yet that are absolute necessities in the cure of this ill. J. V. S. soon regulates it out of the system.

"I had a bad case of malaria. Seemed unable to check it and being over seventy years old, was very uneasy. Finally, I tried J. V. S. It cured me and I am now hearty as before."
M. R. BENNETT, Newcastle, Cal.

JOY'S Vegetable Sarsaparilla

THE REASONS WHY.

1. Because we deal with only the largest firms in the United States.
2. Because we buy in such quantities as to obtain inside figures.
3. Because we are content with a smaller percentage of Profit than any house in the San Joaquin Valley.

FISKE'S RAILINGS.

Work Stopped by an Injunction Against the City.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS ASKED

Dismay of the Chronic Roosters to Find Their Perches Gone—Mr. Grady's Hasty Toilet.

W. D. Grady, the attorney for Mrs. Marcean, was the maddest man in Fresno yesterday morning.

He was awakened about 3 o'clock by a faithful friend, who informed him that Street Superintendent Jones and a force of workmen were engaged in tearing down the railing from in front of the cellarways of the Fiske building. Mr. Grady dressed so hastily that the third button of his coat was in the first button hole, and one end of his coat collar flapped against his right ear, while the other end hung down near his left shoulder. The left shoe was on the right foot and the left foot was in the wrong shoe, but Mr. Grady had no time to think of such technicalities just then.

He had an animated conversation with Mr. Jones, but Jones was firm. He had his authority from the city trustees and he proposed to do his duty.

Mr. Grady, however, did not waste much time in expressing his indignation, but he aroused R. D. Edwards and they hastily drew up the papers in an injunction suit against the city, and claiming $1000 damages. Judge Harris was roused from his slumbers and the case was explained to him. He signed the papers, and at 4 30 o'clock the papers were served upon Superintendent Jones and the work was stopped.

GUARDING THE HOLES.

But every vestige of railing had disappeared and the workmen had covered with heavy planks the northern opening on J street. The injunction prevented any further work being done in that direction, and Policeman Smith, representing the city, and Tex Baker, representing Mr. Grady, stood guard over the holes to prevent any absent minded or drunken man from falling down the cellar ways.

Mr. Baker was called away during the afternoon for a few moments, and during his absence some store keepers, with the assistance of bystanders, covered about fifteen feet of one of the openings.

FEELINGS OF HUMANITY.

Then Mr. Grady and his trusted lieutenant, James Chesterfield Gallagher, appeared again on the scene and proceeded to have the openings covered, "out of a feeling of humanity," as Mr. Gallagher explained.

Mr. Grady said to a reporter: "What's the necessity for the city to do its work in the night. I don't see why they should be in so much of a hurry if they thought they were doing right. But they know they were doing a sneaking thing and they acted under the cover of darkness."

AMATEUR LAWYERS.

All the amateur lawyers in town gathered in front of the openings and discussed the merits of the case during the afternoon. Fulton G. Berry expressed the opinion that the cellars in town were destined to become valuable property if for nothing else than the storage of wines and other Fresno products. He controverted the statement that the railings were an obstruction and pointed to the fact that the complaints had not been made against the railings but against the idle men who roosted upon them all day and covered the sidewalks with tobacco juice. The trustees could have framed a move-on ordinance and the nuisance would be at once abated if the authorities faithfully carried out the ordinance.

Some others were of a different opinion. They said that so long as the railings remained there people would roost upon them. The nuisance had become so pronounced that ladies preferred to walk down Fresno street in the hot sun to reach I or Mariposa streets, rather than run the gauntlet of tobacco juice, improper language and insulting leers.

HOMELESS CHICKENS.

It was amusing to watch the expression of dismay and disappointment upon the faces of the chronic roosters when they arrived at the hencoop yesterday morning and found the perches gone. They stood about the sidewalk, looking at the yawning openings in a most homesick way, and shifted the weight of their bodies from one foot to the other in a dazed and helpless manner.

The developments in the injunction suit will be looked forward to with much interest. The case will be argued at 9 o'clock this morning.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Given by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

At the Baptist church last night the W.C.T.U. gave an ice cream social. A large number of people were present who enjoyed themselves much.

A very brief program had been provided for the entertainment of the visitors, but it made up in quality what it lacked in quantity and proved very satisfactory.

Miss Nellie Boyd recited "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" in her usual artistic and effective manner. Miss Opal Stuart came next, reciting "A Bundle of Letters." She acquitted herself very creditably.

This ended the program and the remainder of the evening was spent in music, conversing, eating ice cream and cake and drinking water.

The water was of prime quality and the ice cream of the approved density and frigidity. The cake had not that dyspeptic aura so easily discerned by those possessing supersensitive stomachs. Everything was of the best.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Almon Gale's Ninth Anniversary Duly Celebrated.

A surprise party was given yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gale in Altamont addition, to Almon Gale in honor of the ninth anniversary of his birth.

The young people spent the time in games and refreshments, and enjoyed the occasion to the utmost. There were present: Maudie Densmore, Sarah Olmstead, Emma Conon, Edith Smutz, Cecil Smutz, Cora Gale, Nellie Gale, Edward Conon, George Conon, Robert Conon, Ralph Taylor, Alfred Taylor, Fred Olmstead, Alfred Olmstead, Hiram Gale, Eddie Jumper.

THAT RATIFICATION.

Prospect That It Will Not Amount to Much.

If the meeting of the clubs last Monday night is any indication, the interest being taken in the proposed Democratic ratification next Friday night is very small. There were only 35 or 40 persons present.

It is probable that many of the club men did not relish the language in which the call for the meeting was couched. Those to whom it was addressed were not requested to attend the meeting, but were expected to be there. Expected is often used synonymously with must. Then again the call was signed "By Order of the Iroquois Club."

No doubt this peremptory way of calling a meeting displeased many. It seemed to unnecessarily emphasize the fact that the Iroquois intended to boss the show.

It is not likely that many country Democrats will be in town that night. They are said to be offended at the forwardness of the Iroquois club and would have been happier had the invitation to assist at the ratification been sent them by the county committee.

If these rumors are correct there will be torches galore for the marchers. It is intended to have 800 torches for the ratification, and if the county Democrats stay away and the members of the city clubs make no better showing than they did Monday night, each man in line will probably have to carry five torches.

THE FATAL FLUME.

Serious Accident to Miss Leila Jones of Trimmers' Springs.

Last week Miss Leila Jones, whose father keeps the hotel at Trimmers' springs, gained the rather undesirable distinction of being the first woman to tumble off Moore & Smith's big lumber flume.

Miss Leila was stopping at the springs and expressed a desire to take a ride in the flume. Flumeborder Wakefield needed no further orders. A raft was made forthwith which Miss Leila boarded.

After riding as far as she wanted, she attempted to alight. She missed her footing, her dress caught on a projecting bracket and the momentum given her by the swiftly floating raft, threw her headlong from the flume. She fell a distance of twenty feet, her forehead striking a 4x6 timber that lay on the ground, inflicting two terrible gashes. She also sustained other severe injuries, her right side being one mass of black and blue.

Dr. Pressly of Sanger was hurriedly summoned, but on account of the swelling of the flesh about the forehead was not able to say whether the skull was fractured or not.

Later reports say she is improving rapidly.

This has been a very unlucky flume for people walking upon it. While it was being built two workmen fell off and were killed.

Several weeks ago a young man named Ryan residing in this city fell off it and received serious injuries, and A. C. Haskins was knocked off the walk by three assassins and beaten to death.

ALLEGED CRUELTY.

A Case in Which the Testimony Was All on One Side.

A. P. Armas was tried before Justice of the Peace Shannon yesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals. The evidence for the prosecution showed that Armas took a wild mustang mare from a feed stable for the purpose of breaking her, and when he had led her a block she fell back on her side and died the next morning.

It was shown by the testimony of the defendant's witnesses that the mare injured herself while she was being caught in the corral, and that her death was due to concussion of the brain.

The case was continued until next Saturday.

SALICYLIC ACID.

A DANGEROUS COMPOUND FOR PRESERVING FRUIT.

Professor Hilgard Warns the Public Against a High Priced and Unwholesome Preparation.

The following circular, headed "A Warning to the Public," has been issued by Professor E. W. Hilgard of the university experiment station at Berkeley:

The Ohio Fruit company's California cold process for preserving fruits, vegetables and liquids.

It seems that a quiet but active canvass is being made in this state and probably elsewhere under the above caption, and the circular is headed by a notice that "anyone printing or selling directions not obtained from us will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law." "Compound Extract of Salyx" is the sonorous name under which the alleged new nostrum is advertised.

The name of this compound extract is incautiously suggestive of salicylic acid. An examination of the sample fruit distributed by the canvassers accordingly shows, in the liquid around the fruit, one-third of 1 per cent of salicylic acid, which of course is well known to preserve fruit, as well as other vegetable and animal matter, but is better adapted to the preparations of show specimens than to preserve for human consumption. Doubtless there are persons who may for some time take such doses of the well known preservative with impunity; there are others with whom its use would in a short time create very serious disorders of the digestion, and there are those whose digestion is stopped, point blank, when such preserves are eaten.

Any one is at liberty to take his choice as to which of the above classes he considers himself as belonging, and may take his dose of medicine with his dessert if he chooses. But should any one desire to do so it is quite unnecessary for him to pay the Ohio Fruit company at the rate of $8 dollars a pound for what he can get at retail for $1.50. Nor need he be alarmed about the fruit company's threat of prosecution. The use of salicylic acid (elsewhere forbidden by sanitary regulations) is guarded by no patent and never has been; that of "Coffee C" sugar prescribed by the company certainly is not. All are at liberty to sweeten their fruit according to taste, and to spice it with the antiseptic acid without asking leave of anybody.

CROP BULLETIN NO. 3.

OBSERVER WILLIAMS ON CROPS AND WEATHER.

Grapes Have Ceased Falling—Outlook for Grain Very Good.

United States department of agriculture weather bureau crop bulletin for the week ending Monday, June 20th, at Fresno:

Fresno county, Fresno district—No rainfall, maximum temperature 106 degrees, minimum temperature 52.

The increase of the temperature and decrease of wind force and humidity has been favorable for all crops; has stopped the dropping of grapes, is ripening apricots rapidly, and has cured the wheat as it threshes in good shape.

The situation remains about the same for raisins, some vineyards reporting as much as 80 per cent loss, and others as low as 20 per cent; it will average 60 per cent of the first crop. The second crop looks well, and will cover the loss of the first if no early rains come in this fall to prevent curing.

Wheat harvesting is going ahead with a rush and the crop will be 25 per cent greater than last year and of better quality.

Reedley district—No rain, weather favorable for all crops. Some early grain has suffered from rust, but not enough to affect the general average, which is good.

Upper San Joaquin district—On the heavy land wheat had not cured enough to thresh well last week, but the hot weather of the past three days has put it in condition, and harvesting will go on without further interruption. Crops good both in quantity and quality.

Easton district—The warm weather of past three days has been beneficial to all crops, and seems to have clocked the dropping of Muscats. Apricots ripening rapidly.

Sanger District—No rain; good weather for all crops. Harvest under full headway, grain turning out better than expected, late sown the best, on account of the cold weather the past month.

Fowler District—Favorable weather; dropping of muscats checked. Fruit ripening in good shape. Harvesting begun, good yield.

Merced County, Merced District—No rainfall. Temperature below average. Harvesting progressing well. Good yield and quality.

Tulare County, Hanford District—No rainfall. Temperature and sunshine about the average, and all crops benefited. Grain harvesting now in progress. Prospects are for good crops.

No further reports in.

I would again remind correspondents that, to be of service, their reports should be mailed promptly, so I can have them on Tuesday of each week, when this crop bulletin is issued.

A NEW APRICOT.

A Variety Larger and Handsomer Than the Moorpark.

Jorgen Hansen of Fig avenue, Central colony, left at this office yesterday a box of the handsomest apricots that have ever been grown in the state. They will average seven inches in circumference, and resemble the Moorpark in appearance, but ripen more evenly.

The seeds were obtained from the state university several years ago, but Mr. Hansen does not know the name. He has six trees, all of which are heavily loaded with fruit. They are steady bearers and are evidently a superior variety.

N. G. C. NOTES.

The Rifle Practice Last Sunday. Celebration of the Fourth.

Company C, N.G.C., held their semi-annual rifle practice at the butts last Sunday morning, nearly all the members of the company being present. Inspector of Rifle Practice Major H. C. Eggers supervised the affair.

The scores were not as good as at the last shoot and some of the best marksmen fell below former records. Private H. C. Fabet made the best score, getting 40 out of a possible 50. He will get the company medal. One of the men made ten goose eggs. There were other scores of 39, 38, 37, 36 and downward.

Those who were absent from the practice Sunday want to the butts last evening to shoot. The cause of the poorer scores this time is said to be due to there being quite a number of raw recruits in the company, also because the men had to shoot over a field of grain, the glare from which dazzled their eyes.

The Fresno companies go to Modesto on July 4th, by order of Colonel Lehe. It is compulsory for the Sixth to meet once a year and the one on July 4th is to be made the annual meeting.

There is said to be more in this matter than appears and it is hinted that there is a serious misunderstanding between the Slough ally colonel and some of the local officers. It seems that the companies were not particularly anxious to go to Modesto, preferring to spend the Fourth in their own city, and Lehe is being blamed for having ordered the matter differently.

THE OAKLAND ROBBERS.

They Are Supposed to Have Passed Through Fresno.

Sheriff Hensley was notified night before last by Chief of Police Tompkins of Oakland, to intercept two men who got on the south bound train at Livermore. Tompkins believed they were certainly the men who robbed the secretary of the Judson iron works company in a railroad train in Oakland on the 11th instant.

One of the men Oakland's chief of police wanted arrested is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height. He has dark eyes and a dark mustache. The other is 5 feet 6 or 6½ inches tall and weighs about 170 pounds. He is of a light complexion, and has sandy hair and mustache, the latter rather thin. He had on light clothes when he entered the train at Livermore. They carried a black valise and a roll of blankets.

The telegram was received here too late, the train making connection with Livermore getting here at 5.20 in the evening, while the telegram was not received here till after 9 that night.

The robbery was one of the most daring ever committed in the country. It was done in broad daylight. The secretary of the Judson iron company was on his way to pay off its employes, and had $10,000 in bags on the seat beside him. As the train slowed up at B street in Oakland two men came up to the secretary, covered him with revolvers and demanded the money. They got it, jumped off the train and drove away in a buggy with their booty.

The authorities throughout the valley are on the lookout for the robbers. Sheriff Hensley has been keeping a close watch on the trains.

THE FORGERY CASE.

SECOND DAY OF J. M. BAYLEY'S TRIAL.

The Prosecution Working Hard to Convict—An Attorney Fined.

The trial of the Bayley forgery case was resumed before Judge Holmes yesterday. The court decided the question as to the admissability as evidence of the check for the alleged forgery of which Bayley was tried recently in favor of the defense, who opposed its admission.

John Reichman was then put on the stand and testified as an expert on handwriting. He pronounced the signature to the check passed on the Farmers' bank a forgery.

George Secord testified to a check for $16 35 which Bayley passed on him. It was signed T. B. Craycroft. John Noon was next put on the stand and stated that Bayley had given him a check on the Bank of Central California for $25. The check was signed T. B. Craycroft. Noon took the check to the bank and was told it was worthless.

T. B. Craycroft testified that he had given Bayley permission to sign his name on checks. William E. Bloss, the next witness, stated he had been asked by Bayley for a blank check and had furnished him with one. Witness identified defendant as the person to whom he gave the blank check.

Other witnesses were put on the stand to testify as to the identity of the defendant. During the examination of one of the witnesses Attorney Grady, of the prosecution, made some suggestion. The court informed the attorney that he was speaking out of order. Grady disputed this and was fined $10 for contempt.

Mr. Grady still remained unconvinced, and by the time he had finished explaining to the court that it was all wrong found there was an aggregate of $160 in fines against him. District Attorney Tupper subsequently explained the matter, which was a misunderstanding, and Judge Holmes remitted the fines.

Counsel for the defense made a motion to strike out the evidence relating to the alleged forgeries testified to by George Secord and John Noon. The motion was argued and denied.

The prosecution finished the presentation of its case yesterday afternoon. Attorney Sam Hinds will make the opening statement for the defense this morning.

The case is being hotly fought, the prosecution doing its utmost to secure a conviction.

LARRY BEAVERS' COMPLAINT.

He Charged William Robinson with Disturbing His Peace.

William Robinson was arrested yesterday on complaint of Lawrence Beavers, a member of the fire department, who charged Robinson with having disturbed his peace at the Church barn fire and in front of the Grand Central hotel last Monday.

Robinson was brought before Justice of the Peace Shannon, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Beavers told a reporter that Robinson, while under the influence of liquor, had abused him at the fire and afterwards followed him to the Grand Central hotel and repeated his abuse.

"What was the trouble between you?" was asked.

"O; because I belong to this Triangle fire department," replied Beavers, who is only a boy in years. "I was the smallest member in the department, and he picked on me. He's mad at me because he used to belong to the department, but he was fired out by the Triangle."

GLANDERS.

A SCIENTIFIC DISSERTATION ON THE DISEASE.

An Incurable Affliction Fatal Alike to Horses and Humankind. Its Microbe Found.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—The subject of glanders should be handled very carefully even by our most scientific veterinarians. The various efforts that were made forty years ago to discover the actual cause and effect of glanders has been a positive element to the skillful of this profession but few years. Not like the family physician the man who doctors domestic animals in addition to his mental knowledge must have his senses of sight, hearing and touch refinely educated before he is master of the science. To return to the original of the study of glanders I will say the alleged discoveries in most cases were far from the truth, and at times sensational and absurd. If you want authority for what I say I can refer you to some of the most established and genuine faculty of academies of veterinary science—masters of the art, etc.

There are many unsafe and insufficient methods employed by unskilled veterinarians in the attempt to bring about positive necessity for the slaughter of horses—absolute condemnation—without any knowledge whatever as to the true nature or condition of the specific microbe.

The actual presence of a certain microbe in glandered horses and its capacity of producing disease in healthy horses was first demonstrated in a satisfactory manner by Loffler and Schutz. They have also favored us with a brief which serves at the same time as a description of the bacillus as originally found in the lessons and in culture.

To this disease I have given thirteen years assiduous study. Hence, in offering this article to the public I must emphatically state that I do so by request of an intelligent portion of the citizens of this and other adjoining counties, who have read the "Regulation for the Suppression and Prevention of Contagious Infections and Communicable Diseases Affecting Domestic Animals in the District of Columbia," and who really want advice as to the cause, effect and danger of glanders.

It is a contagious disease, of importance both from an economical and sanitary standpoint. It is not only communicated from one horse to another, but very often transmitted to man, producing severe and generally fatal diseases. The consensus of opinion and of legislation today demands the killing of animals affected with glanders. Recovery of horses affected with this disease is perhaps never complete. In the great majority of cases it runs a course of variable length the final result of which is death, preceded by emaciation and general debility. Nor is there any remedy or cure for the disease.

Granted even the possibility of recovery, the affected animal is in the meantime a source of continual danger to other horses, and to human beings. It is therefore in the end economy, not to say sanitary prudence, to be particularly vigilant over the health of all domestic animals under your charge, and immediately destroy glandered horses when detected, even were human life not endangered by its presence.

But the diagnosis of glanders requires skill as it is not always an easy matter to detect it. It may be confounded with a number of other diseases, and when a very valuable animal is involved an accurate diagnosis is of standard importance. Since the discovery of the bacillus of glanders in 1882, considerable attention has been paid to the matter of diagnosis.

I have devoted the greater part of my attention since then to the consideration of the causation or etiology of the disease with special reference to the specific bacillus and its biology, also to an account of many experiments made in the medical academy in which I gave my studentship and laboratories elsewhere. Knowing that without this knowledge a veterinarian is unfit to make a diagnosis of a case that may be glanders, as he cannot detect the preliminary developments, and would, perhaps, pronounce it distemper or something equally as ridiculous and have your horse be allowed to live, which in time will manifest itself a financial expense and a material injury, because to the uneducated eye it is an masque, perhaps by the presence of catarrhal pneumonia or similar disease, consequently the veterinarian is only safe to be decisive when he finds the proof, which is the detection of the glanders bacilli. I wish these lines to be read by those whose minds are unbiased and made up to accept of no argument, for I strongly understand myself and my subject.

Is This For You?

It will interest you to know that there is a largely increased demand for our silverware—it seems to have taken popular fancy by storm. We are not at any loss for an explanation. Popular judgment doesn't often make mistakes and it isn't mistaken this time. These articles have fallen into general favor because they are designed with the utmost care and skill and because they are the result of artistic and studied workmanship. What is perhaps as much to the point as anything else that can be said about them is that they are sold at figures well within the reach of little incomes.
